

THE UNITED REPUBLIC OF TANZANIA
TANZANIA COMMUNICATIONS REGULATORY AUTHORITY

PUBLIC NOTICE

MESSAGES WITH RESPECT TO HEALTH EFFECTS OF MOBILE PHONES

The Tanzania Communications Regulatory Authority (TCRA) has received complaints from the public that there are messages circulating around that mobile phones have hazardous effects.

From the weight of substantial international scientific and technological research, there is no substantial evidence that the use of communications equipment such as mobile phones causes harmful health effects. Consumers should continue to have confidence in the many benefits of modern technology including mobile telephony, TV and computers which are used by people globally.

The goal of TCRA and all its licensees providing communications is to ensure that the people of Tanzania get excellent and safe communications infrastructure, services and applications.

TCRA wishes to emphasize that the messages circulating around have no truth and should be ignored with the contempt they deserve.
